Re Item V.

1. The invention relates to a pivot bearing with reduced angle of articulation. Such an arrangement is known from GB 856 569 A.

To provide a bearing for a hinge, accommodating small motions without significant wear and fatigue, the features of claim 1 are proposed.

Such a pivot bearing with a load bearing shell, being fixed to a housing and having abutment surfaces for abutment with abutment surfaces of shear elements, which are fixed to the pivot or the housing, is neither known from nor rendered obvious by the cited prior art.

The subject-matter of independent claim 1 is also able to work and can be manufactured.

Accordingly, independent claim 1 meets the requirements of novelty, inventive step and industrial application according to Articles 33(2) to 33(4) PCT.

2. Dependent claims 2 to 8 define further advantageous and non-obvious variations of the bearing according to independent claim 1 and thus equally meet the requirements of novelty, inventive step and industrial application according to Articles 33(2) to 33(4) PCT.
